

Jeff Margolis

Award-winning producer/director Jeff Margolis (Executive Broadcast Producer) brings three decades of experience crafting dynamic event television to the helm of Jeff Margolis Productions. Jeff Margolis has shaped more than 100 of the entertainment industry's biggest events, headlined by its top stars, for which he has received many of the industry's top honors. Margolis won two Directors Guild of America Awards for directing the Oscars®, has accumulated six Emmy® Award nominations for directing the 1991-1996 Academy Awards telecasts and won Emmys® for directing the 1995 Oscars® and for producing Sammy Davis Jr.'s 60th Anniversary Celebration.

Jeff Margolis has a tradition of producing holiday celebrations, including Amy Grant... A Christmas to Remember, six years of Perry Como Christmas specials, A Musical Christmas at Walt Disney World, A Merry Motown Christmas and Holiday Greetings from the Ed Sullivan Show. Among his long list of credits, from 1993 to 1998 Margolis produced and directed A Gala for the President at Ford's Theater.